GREATER BURLINGTON PARTNERSHIP NEWSLETTER VOL. 100 NO. 3

PARTNERSHIP

WHAT'S IN A MILESTONE?

by Della Schmidt

At the Annual Dinner, the Greater Burlington Partnership celebrated the centennial of the Burlington/West Burlington Area Chamber of Commerce. Southeastern Community College is also marking a 100th anniversary this year. Whether it be one year or 100, milestones reflect more than the passage of time; they reveal timeless truths.

Vision. People create visions of what might be and then work tirelessly to make dreams become reality. Evidence of vision is present in every Greater Burlington business, school, athletic and arts facility, community and non-profit organization. The vision of those who came before has shaped this area into what it is today. And it is the vision of today's leaders that will shape the future.

Perseverance. Milestones are important reminders of perseverance. "When the going gets tough, the tough get going" is a philosophy held by many an entrepreneur. The Greater Burlington area is full of successful businesses that exist today because of the hard work and tenacity of owners who just simply wouldn't give up. People have overcome challenges brought about by economic changes, natural disasters, world events, and changes in cultural values. Tapping that same spirit of perseverance will lead business owners in the next few years as the TIGER grant project takes shape in downtown Burlington, as the community comes together to solve the Cascade Bridge dilemma and as civic leaders work to create a safe and welcoming environment for all who call Greater Burlington home.

Change. Albert Einstein wrote, "A person who never made a mistake never tried anything new." And what is "new" but an invitation for change? Significant milestones are only met by institutions that have changed with the times. New challenges required new solutions. New solutions required trial and error, willingness to risk a failure in pursuit of a big success. Just as it has been in the past, so it must be in the future. For communities and businesses to be successful in the years ahead, there must be a willingness to embrace change in order to remain relevant in an ever-changing world.

Times may change. Truths remain constant. Through a willingness to cast new visions, remain committed to perseverance and welcome new ideas, the Greater Burlington area will continue to build upon the past successes to secure a brighter future.

The Greater Burlington Partnership would like to help celebrate your company milestone. Contact Rachel Lindeen to schedule a ribbon cutting today!

YP SPOTLIGHT

Matt Brown

Employer:

Casebine Community Credit Union

Hometown: Keokuk, IA

YP Member: 6 years

Why did you join YP? I felt like YP would be a good way to get more involved in the community, hang out with friends I already had, and make new ones along the way.

Which community organizations/events do you volunteer for? I volunteer for the SnowBull Board of Directors and the Burlington Riverfront Entertainment Board of Directors.

What do you enjoy most about Greater Burlington? I love how Burlington is both big and small. We're big enough to always have something new and interesting going on, but small enough that you get to see people you know almost everywhere you go.

Unique about me: I co-own a live video production company... we were once told "you're not as bad as I planned on" by Martina McBride's tour director.

GRAND HANK Rocked the Memorial Auditorium

More than a thousand students in grades 7 through 10 from Burlington Community Schools received a high-energy introduction to Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) at the Grand Hank Magic and Wonders of STEM event in February. A pilot project of the Greater Burlington Partnership and the Burlington Community School District, the Grand Hank event was the latest in an array of new Talent Pipeline program initiatives. The event was also attended by representatives from Future Ready Iowa, Iowa Workforce Development, The Office of Senator Charles Grassley, and local business leaders.

The Magic and Wonders of STEM event was made possible through the support of Partnering for the Future III Investors, Burlington Memorial Auditorium and generous grants from the John H. Witte Jr. Foundation, Burlington Education Foundation and the Brent Slocum Foundation.

Work Begins on 300 Washington

After months of consultations, inspections, and negotiations, Downtown Partners is beginning work to repair the damaged northeast corner of their building at 300 Washington. Decades of water infiltration had weakened structural members and washed out the mortar in the walls, resulting in bricks falling in June 2019. As the scope of the problem grew, so did the repair costs, which were beyond DPI's ability to cover on its own. However, demolition costs were even higher.

Fortunately, a number of resources have been put together with DPI funding and local financing to do the work. Burlington's Heritage Trust contributed funding towards stabilization, the National Trust for Historic Preservation provided funding for engineering work, and the City of Burlington committed $20,000 from its economic development fund. The project is sponsored in part by the Iowa Economic Development Authority with a $100,000 Community Catalyst emergency grant, matched by the City's funding. The Partnership's Economic Development division also provided a letter of credit to the City to back up the grant.

DPI has hired Grant Construction, a downtown business, as the contractor. The work will take several months to complete. First, the interior framing must be shored up on each floor from the basement to the roof, then the exterior wall will be dismantled. Finally, the wall will be rebuilt with concrete block on the interior and faced with brick on the outside, matching the historic appearance. As this complicated project gets underway, DPI is seeking additional grants and funding sources.

"Our intention to sell the building for productive redevelopment remains unchanged," said Steve Frevert. "We share the frustration that it has taken so long to get to this point. DPI is thankful for the support received and glad to get this major repair project started. When it's completed, the building will be in better shape than it has been in many years."

WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

by Kay Weiss

The Women's Bureau of the Greater Burlington Association was established in March of 1922 to take the place of the local Federation of Women's Clubs and "to make a place for every woman in Burlington and Des Moines County to work on community activities." The first elected officers were Mrs. J. W. Dixon, President; Mrs. C. C. Clark, Vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Mercer Krebs, Secretary; and Mrs. Raymond Baxter, Treasurer.

In December, 1925, the GBA Women's Bureau met to hear Mr. John Aue, president of the Iowa Good Roads Association, speak on the importance of women's vote to pass a statewide bond issue to "pull Iowa out of the mud." At this same meeting, "Mrs. George Boesch told of the work of various scout troops which planted seeds in various dumps around the city." An American flag was presented to the troop, which was in charge of the dumps at Agency and Linden St. A second prize was given to the troop that had responsibility for the billboards on Main St near High St. At the end of the meeting, the women present adopted a resolution putting the group on record as endorsing the good roads movement in Iowa and requesting our legislature to bring the matter speedily to the vote of the citizens of Iowa.

One of the aims of the group was to enrich the life of the community by encouraging opportunities for citizens to enjoy performances of live music and drama. The Music Committee brought a number of noted musical groups to the city. The Burlington Hawk Eye credited the Women's Bureau for the founding of the Civic Music organization.

In a like manner, the Drama Department fostered an interest in locally produced performances, which led to the organization of today's Players Workshop. In 1929, the Women's Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce and their "little theater" committee brought a production of Aunt Lucia, a comedy directed by a woman, to the Grand Theater.

In the 1930s, the Women's Bureau began to be a shadow of its former self. In February of 1936 and January 1937, it held benefit parties, but after that it fell out of newspaper coverage. In 1963 the Burlington Hawk Eye suggested in an editorial that it might be time to reinstitute the Women's Bureau to address the concerns of half the citizens of the community. The leadership capabilities of women were finally recognized in 1995 when Anita Wagner was elected as the first female president of the Burlington/West Burlington Area Chamber of Commerce.
